Wya Point Resort in Ucluelet, BC Beckons Couples with Sunset Ceremonies and Luxurious Beachfront Accommodations

It's what dreams are made of: a sunset wedding ceremony on a spectacular sandy beach, an elated couple surrounded by their loved ones, fine food prepared with local ingredients and a secluded honeymoon suite nestled between a lush coastal rainforest and an exclusive beach. Introducing Wya Point Resort, Ucluelet, BC's new luxury eco-resort and wedding destination.

Developed by the Yuu-tluth-aht First Nation and situated minutes from world-famous Pacific Rim National Park Reserve, Wya Point Resort beckons couples seeking a romantic beach wedding that celebrates the natural beauty of Vancouver Island's west coast. The sun setting over the Pacific Ocean provides a stunning backdrop for the exchanging of vows.

Wya Point Resort caters to every wedding guest. New to the resort, the one to two-bedroom Lodges at Wya Point Resort epitomize West Coast luxury. Architect-designed, the post and beam cedar lodges feature contemporary kitchens, fireplaces and walk-on beach access. For unplugged escapes, the rustic Yurts at Wya Point Resort are equipped with barbecues, fireplaces, wrap-around cedar decks and direct access to private beaches.

From intimate weddings to grand celebrations, Wya Point Resort works with couples to ensure that their special day is an expression of who they are. A local wedding planner can arrange wedding, romance and elopement packages, coordinate gift baskets and book private surf lessons and in-room massages. For a small gathering, groups of 12 to 20 guests may enjoy a chef-prepared meal in one of the larger Ucluth Beach Lodges at Wya Point, while the Kwisitis Feast House caters up to 120 people for dinner and dancing. And at the end of their magical day, the newlyweds retreat to their own private sanctuary: the honeymoon suite. Whether it's a beautifully appointed one-bedroom beach lodge or a spacious, off-the-grid Yurt, Wya Point Resort is the perfect all-in-one destination for a truly West Coast wedding and honeymoon.

To get to Wya Point Resort, fly into Long Beach Airport's South Terminal, then take a shuttle directly to the resort. For more information, please visit www.wyapoint.com or call 250-726-3435.
